British And American Warcraft In Harbor Reply To Pretty Compliment

"Historic "American Luck" held good yesterday when after two days downpour the skies cleared, the sun shone brightly and weather was ideal for the celebration of Independence Day in Shanghai. From the beginning of the festivities with open house at the American Consulate General to the finish of the last dance in the wee sma' hours the celebration was a success. Everything was carried out just as it was planned and it was declared to be the most enjoyable event of the kind that has fallen to the lot of the American colony in this, the Gateway to the Orient.

Consul General Cunningham endeared himself to the colony, which he but recently joined, by his hospitality from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The Consulate and roadway in front of it were bedecked with flags and bunting provided and arranged by the Navy men here, the entrance, stairway and reception rooms made bowers of beautiful blossoms, potted plants and ferns having been most artistically arranged under the direction of Major Chauncey Holcomb, United States District Attorney for China, and the electrical display on the gigantic flagpole, which was prepared by Andersen, Meyer and Company for Mr. Cunningham, was a fitting climax.

There was an orchestra playing, refreshments of a delightful character were served and a hearty greeting was forthcoming from the Consul General who was ably seconded by Sir Everard Fraser, Consul General for Great Britain.

AT AMERICAN CLUB

At the conclusion of the reception at the consulate the male contingent repaired to the American Club where open house was held from 12:30 o'clock until 3 o'clock. An elaborate repast was served and Holman and his Carlton Orchestra made the occasion festive with their rendition of national and other airs.

Dr. W. T. Findley, president of the Club, proposed a toast to the President of the United States and when it had been drunk the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" while the assembled company stood at attention.

ADMIRAL GLEAVES SPEAKS

The chairman then introduced Admiral Gleaves as "the man who took our army across the seas to the World War." The Admiral was greeted with a storm of applause and his brief words of acknowledgment ended in another ovation for the new commander of the Asiatic Fleet.

"I would be less than human if I did not appreciate the kind words of Dr. Findley," said the Admiral. "From some of the recent distorted news reports that have come to the Far East from home I was beginning to wonder if I was in the war at all."

He commented on recent events and expressed his pleasure that everything that is happening is bringing the United States and Great Britain closer and closer together. Then he related an incident of a recent visit paid him by Admiral and Mrs. Borrett.

AN HISTORIC PHRASE

"The Admiral cautioned Mrs. Borrett to remember to congratulate me on our successful fight for independence 144 years ago," he said, "and was rewarded with the information that after all America's dissatisfaction with English rule was due to a German king."

A phrase that will live in history with "Blood is thicker than water," the Admiral said, was coined at Yochow in the recent

"To The Last Man And Gun!"

That was the kind of support offered to an American naval officer by a British Rear Admiral when the former was preparing to land troops and protect life at the mission town of Yochow.

The incident was described, happily, by Rear Admiral Gleaves in the course of an Independence Day celebration at the American Club yesterday—and the ovation which followed nearly shook down the building.

Below is a full account of the affair, and of the gallant and tactful services now being rendered by the American Patrol Force on the upper reaches of the Yangtsekiang.

Don't fail to read it!

BRITON, IN COMMAND OF GUN-BOATS, SENDS MESSAGE DESTINED TO BECOME AS FAMOUS AS TATTNELL'S EPIGRAM

"If you are attacked I will come to your assistance with every man and every gun I have."

Admiral G. H. Borrett, senior British naval officer commanding forces on the Yangtsze river, made this pledge—which promises to go down in history together with Tattnell's famous "Blood is thicker than water" at the taking of the Taku Forts—when parties of American sailors landed at Yochow and Lakeside to protect refugees in the American mission compounds there recently, following the murder of Rev. William H. Reimert by fleeing northern soldiers.

The story of the British admiral's readiness to back up the American patrol on the Upper Yangtsze was first heard here yesterday, when Admiral Albert Gleaves, commander-in-chief of the American Asiatic Fleet, spoke at an Independence Day celebration, and told of the pledge, which was given to Captain Thomas A. Kearney, commander of the American patrol force on the Yangtse.

MURDER DETAILS

With the return here of the ships from the scene of the recent disorders in the interior, details of the murder of Mr. Reimert were obtained also for the first time.

The missionary was in charge of a compound at Yochow, where thousands of refugees were being sheltered. A squad of northern troops went to the barred gates and demanded admittance. It was refused and the soldiers were asked what they wanted.

"We are hungry and want food," the men told Dr. Reimert.

"I will get food for you, but cannot admit you to the compound," said the missionary.

The words were hardly out of his mouth before the squad had raised their rifles and shot him to death.

STARTED INQUIRY

An investigation was begun immediately, at the insistence of Vice Consul Huston, who pressed home demands for an immediate settlement of the matter; and it is now believed that satisfactory terms of reparation have been agreed upon.

Trouble in Hunan province approached a crisis in May of this year, with the withdrawal of the forces of General Wu Pei-fu, the northern commander.

Wu was followed closely by General Chang Ching-yao's northern forces and disorders in the vicinity of Changsha may be directly attributed to the uncontrolled and precipitous retreat of Chang's army.

Early in June the inhabitants of Changsha were apprehensive, though little concern was felt at that time by the foreign population.

Evacuation of Changsha by the northern troops, who feared the approaching southerners, began

ACCUSED MAN SLAYS WOMAN WITH CLEAVER

Two Children Mutilated By Blows From Weapon In Slayer's Hands

Angered by an accusation of theft, Wong Ching-fok, a Chinese living at 1805 Avenue Road, entered the room of an aged woman at the same address early yesterday morning, split her skull with a cleaver and injured two children who were sleeping in the same apartment, according to charges made before the Mixed Court. The man is being held on a charge of murder made by the Louza police.

On July 3 a silk gown was stolen from the apartment of the woman, Tsang Wong-sz, and she accused her neighbor of the theft.

HEARD OUTCRY

About 5 o'clock yesterday morning a constable from the Louza station was passing the house and heard an outcry in the woman's apartments. He started to make an investigation and at the doorway met the accused man bearing a blood-stained cleaver. He arrested the man and took him back to the apartment.

The woman, who was 50 years old, was found dead in her bed. The two children, a girl 16 years of age, and a boy 7 years old, were found in a semi-conscious condition suffering from severe gashes about the head.

British Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Li held an inquest yesterday and returned a verdict accusing Wong of the crime.

AMERICAN BODY UNABLE TO GRANT PLEA OF CHINESE

Chamber Of Commerce In Stand Taken Follows Example Of British Organisation

In precise accord with action taken recently by the British Chamber of Commerce, the American Chamber of Commerce has announced that it cannot do anything to aid the Chinese importers who have been seeking to have contracts they have made modified and cancelled on the plea that these contracts, at present exchange rates, mean financial ruin for many of them and the loss of Taels 80,000,000.

The Chinese importers about two weeks ago made known their plight in communications addressed to the British and American Chambers. They asked the cooperation of the two foreign commercial bodies. Extensions were sought on contracts entered into prior to January 1 and cancellation of contracts made after that date was asked.

In a resolution that was adopted shortly after these communications were made public the British Chamber of Commerce took the stand that it could take no action. The resolution of the American Chamber of Commerce follows the tone of that of the other Chamber. It is as follows:

RESOLUTION

Adopted by the Sub-Committee, appointed by the American Chamber of Commerce of China, at its meeting of June 29, 1920.

"That the Sub-Committee of the American Chamber of Commerce of China while sympathising with Chinese merchants in the losses with which they are faced, as described in the letters received from the Piece Goods Guilds and the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, is of opinion that the matter is one in which as a body this Chamber can take no effective action, that this Committee declines to associate itself with any movement which threatens the sanctity of the written contract."

Admiral Benson further declares that, if the threats of foreign carriers to divert business to the Pacific coast are carried out, the Board will allocate American vessels to a similar purpose.

London, July 1.—In the House of Commons today, replying to a question, Mr. Kellaway, the Parliamentary Secretary for Overseas Trade, said that the departments concerned were carefully considering the possible effects of the American Merchant Marine bill on British shipping.

3,000,000 GALLONS OF GASOLINE, AND 100 MOTOR CARS, INTENDED FOR KOLCHAK, HELD IN JAPANESE PORT

Three million gallons of gasoline and 100 Chandler motor cars that were consigned to Admiral Kolchak at Vladivostok from America were diverted to French authorities in Japan at the instance of the French Mission which wished to prevent the supplies from falling into the hands of the Bolsheviki, following [illegible] stowed because of lack of godown accommodations at the port.

SHANGHAI MEN IN IT

The entire negotiation for the purchase, shipment and diversion of the motor cars and fuel was handled by Shanghai men, Messrs. Leon and Max Friedman of the Shanghai Garage Company, Ltd.

Mr. Leon Friedman is now on his way back to Shanghai from Vladivostok, where he has just made settlement with the French Mission for the gasoline. He will arrive here Saturday.

Mr. Max Friedman is to sail for the United States this morning on the Empress of Russia for a six months' personal business trip which will include all of the principal automobile centers and leading cities in America.

Payment for the motor cars was made some time ago, but the gasoline bill had not been taken up by the French Mission; so Mr. Leon Friedman went to Vladivostok to personally attend to the matter, after the fire at Kobe. A satisfactory settlement was made.

The gasoline was shipped on a [illegible] at Kobe the crew refused to permit its removal on the ground that [illegible] had instructed them to bring it there.

Mr. Leon Friedman hurried to Japan and took charge of the matter.

FORTUNATE ACCIDENT

Fortunately for the Shanghai man, the Omsk's engines had broken down and she was to be delayed indefinitely in the Japanese harbor. She was already long overdue at Vladivostok and Mr. Friedman took advantage of that fact by threatening to charge a penalty of $1,000 a day for each day the vessel delayed further progress, unless the gasoline was unloaded.

The Russians capitulated and placed the petrol on lighters. Then a careless lighterman threw a lighted cigarette on an oil-soaked deck and the catastrophe followed.

HSU SHU-TSENG LOSES HIS POST BUT WINS RANK

Li Yuan Appointed To Be Frontier Commissioner In His Place

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 5.—A mandate was issued yesterday evening, relieving General Hsu Shu-tseng of his post as Commissioner for Frontier Development in the north-western regions and appointing Li Yuan, the Chinese Resident at Kianhta, as his successor.

The rank of Yuanwai Chiang-chun (Generalissimo) has been bestowed on General Hsu Shu-tseng. The rank carries no office, but entitles the recipient to $1,000 monthly. It is usually conferred on high military officials who have been abruptly deprived of office.

Another mandate abolishes General Hsu Shu-tseng's post of commandant of the frontier defense force, as that force is being placed under the Ministry of War.

CAUSES A STIR

This sudden deprivation of the posts, from which General Hsu derived most of his power, has created some excitement in Peking. Rumors are current that there has been an uprising of part of General Hsu's troops and the usual race to deposit valuables in the foreign banks has begun.

Official circles, however, do not appear apprehensive.

This is a direct action against the head of the Anfu Club but it is believed that the Club will not protest and will confine its future endeavors to the preservation of Tseng Yu-chun as Minister of Communications as he is the last stable pillar of a number on which the former strong edifice of Anfu power rested.

GIRL DIES TO ESCAPE LIFE WITHOUT LOVE

Takes Poison Rather Than Give Up Man Who Had Won Her Heart

Life as the bride of one whom she did not and could not love confronted a pretty Chinese girl who resided at 538 Boone Road.

And the thought of having as a father-in-law a man whom she detested was even more abhorrent.

Besides, she had a sweetheart—a man she truly loved and whom with her heart and soul she wished to marry.

But her parents were adamant. The match had been made. They could not and would not lose face by sanctioning a breach of the contract.

A BROKEN BLOSSOM

So little Tsa Ah-tsen cut the Gordian knot. She went to the home of the idol she had reared in her heart and, before her intention was realised, poisoned herself with opium and died.

The story was told to British Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Li at an inquest held yesterday at the Mixed Court. They caused a warrant to be issued for the man who had stolen the heart of the girl and will re-open the hearing on July 12.

Again the Eternal Triangle.

Bell And Bryan Clash In Debate On Prohibition: Result A Draw

A resume of the telegraphic reports received by THE CHINA PRESS during the past 48 hours indicates that the present Democratic National Convention in San Francisco is, in many ways, one of the most remarkable in the history of the United States.

More important questions, bearing importantly upon both national and international matters, have been under discussion; more steps taken in the direction of unique, constructive legislation; more frank, open discussion has been evoked and more contests—drawn along policy, rather than party, lines—have developed than in any other previous convention of either party.

After twenty-two ballots had been cast, without definite result, the Convention adjourned on Saturday until yesterday morning. The difference in time prevents publication of yesterday's deliberations at this time.

(Reuter's Service)

San Francisco, July 2.—The Plank in the Democratic platform dealing with Asiatic immigrants says:

"The policy of the United States with reference to the non-admission of Asiatic immigrants truly expresses the judgment of Americans."

The plank pledges support to the States "whose geographical situation or internal conditions make this policy, and the enforcement of laws enacted pursuant thereto, of particular concern."

(Special To THE CHINA PRESS)

San Francisco, July 3.—Governor James M. Cox of Ohio leaped into the lead of the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination at the sixteenth ballot today, passing William G. McAdoo, who had been setting the pace from the start.

Previously, Governor Cox had overcome the lead established over him by Attorney-General A. Mitchell Palmer, whose support, after holding him in second place for some time, deserted him at the seventh hurdle.

When adjournment was taken, following the casting of the 22nd ballot, Governor Cox was gaining steadily while Mr. McAdoo was just as steadily falling behind.

It is now thought possible that John W. Davis of West Virginia, present Ambassador to the Court of St. James, will be chosen as a compromise between the McAdoo-Cox forces and emerge the winner.

It is understood that a coalition is being formed to defeat both Cox and McAdoo. The New York delegation is reported to be leading this movement.

(Reuter's Service)

WILSON PLEASED

Washington, July 3.—President Wilson, in the course of a message, replying to the greetings of the Democratic convention, says, referring to the League of Nations:

"The course the Party has taken fills me with perfect confidence that it will go from victory to victory until the true traditions of the Republic are vindicated and the world is convinced not only of our strength and prowess but of our integrity and devotion to the highest ideals. This conquering purpose nothing can defeat."

DEFEATS "DRY" PLANK

San Francisco, July 2.—After a brilliant debate on the floor of the Democratic Convention today, the Convention refused by 929 votes to 155 to pass the motion to include Mr. Bryan's dry plank in the platform. The Convention also rejected by 725 votes to 225 the inclusion of the "Wine and Beer" plank and likewise voted down Mr. Bryan's planks on the League of Nations, on profiteering and against compulsory military training.

The supporters of the Administration controlled heavy majorities on all these votes.

DETAILS OF CAUCUS

San Francisco, June 30.—The following is a fuller report of the proceedings of the platform committee of the Democratic convention:

Senator Phelan of California urged the adoption of an Irish plank, proposing the recognition of the Irish Republic, but Congressman Connolly of Texas declared that this was "an affront to the dignity of Great Britain to challenge her authority within her own Dominions."

There was an angry outburst when an officer of the Loyal Legion declared that $10,000,000 had been collected from "Irish servant-girls and others for propaganda in America." A woman shouted: "Take that back!" A policeman was summoned to suppress the disturbance.

THE "IRISH" PLANK

Mr. Frank Walsh also proposed the introduction of an Irish plank. He denied that recognition of Ireland would disturb relations with Great Britain and argued that political parties in America had always declared for the liberties of the oppressed peoples of the world.

BELL PLAYS "DRYS"

Speaking for the "Wets" before the platform committee Mr. Theodore Bell of California accused Mr. Bryan of inconsistency in opposing personal rights for which, he said, the Democratic Party stood. Mr. Bryan asked whom Mr. Bell represented. Mr. Bell replied:

"I speak for the grape-growers of California."

When asked for whom he spoke, Mr. Bryan said:

"I am speaking for the women and children your traffic would destroy."

CHEERS AND HISSES

Amid a turmoil of cheers and hisses Mr. Bryan added that he had fought the drink traffic for nine years without compensation.

Mr. Cochrane, winding up the case for the "Wets" declared that he abhorred the word, "prohibition," in a free country because it assumed that the people were incapable of self-government.

The Committee of Rules rejected the unit rule in States where the delegations were elected by districts as it was stated that, if this were upheld at the convention, it would split the New York delegation.

LAUDS MRS. WILSON

San Francisco, June 30 (delayed).—A woman delegate to the Democratic convention today proposed that a resolution should be telegraphed to Mrs. Wilson, expressing the appreciation of American women for her care and devotion to the President during his illness. The resolution was adopted with enthusiasm.

WILSON IN CONTROL

San Francisco, July 3.—The Administration again yesterday showed that they fully controlled the Convention. The promised fight on the floor of the Convention amounted to nothing.

The forensic powers of Mr. Bryan, Mr. W. Bourke Cockran and other notable orators aroused both delegates and spectators to enthusiasm when they appealed for amendments to the Irish, Prohibition, League of Nations and other planks, but when the votes were taken all the proposed amendments were ruthlessly killed, and the Administration's platform remained intact.

McADOO A SURPRISE

Mr. McAdoo unexpectedly led in the balloting for nomination. Two ballots were taken before relief in the shape of adjournment came to the tired delegates who had been continuously in session for eleven hours.

Mr. McAdoo's followers, predicting success for their man in the fourteenth ballot, opposed the recess, which however was obtained by a parliamentary coup evolved by the New York delegation, who are opposed to Mr. McAdoo.

WOMAN IN CHAIR

San Francisco, July 1.—During the nominations, Senator Robinson requested Mrs. George Bass, one of the delegates, to take the chair. There was a roar of cheering as this was the first time a woman had wielded the gavel at the great National Convention.

Appearing before the sub-committee, drafting the platform, Mr. C. K. McClatchy urged an anti-Japanese plank, excluding non-assimilable peoples and forbiding those already here from ownership and control of the soil.

Mr. Gompers presented a Labor plank, in which he charged the Republicans with reaction and declared that the Labor vote must seek a new avenue for expression. Other planks urged were independence for India and sympathy with Korea.

PLATFORM REPORT

San Francisco, July 3.—The following is a fuller report of certain planks in the Democratic platform, as finally adopted.

The League of Nations plank states that the Party "favors the League of Nations as the surest, if not the sole, practicable means of maintaining the peace of the world and terminating insufferable naval and military burdens.

"The Party endorses the President's views of America's international obligations, and his firm stand against reservations designed to cut the Versailles Treaty to pieces.

"It advocates immediate ratification of the Treaty without reservations impairing its essential integrity; but does not oppose reservations clarifying American obligations on the League of Nations.

FEDERAL RESERVE

The platform draws attention to the successful operation of the

Federal Reserve system in preventing undue increase in the cost of living. It pledges Democrats to contrive to settle labor disputes without resort to strikes.

It expresses sympathy with China.

Among the nominating speeches, Governor John J. Cornwell of West Virginia proposed Mr. John W. Davis, Ambassador to Great Britain, as "the strongest candidate." Mr. Davis was seconded by Mrs. Brown (formerly Izetta Jewel, the actress).

Governor-General Harrison of the Philippines was proposed by Miss Bessie Dwyer, of Manila.

IRISH INTERRUPT

While the convention was listening to nominating speeches, the resolutions committee was considering the platform plank by plank. The committee's labors were interrupted by a deputation of the caucus of Irish sympathisers who favor recognition of the "Irish Republic." They stated that, if their plank were not accepted, it would be taken to the floor of the convention.

The resolutions committee wrangled for two hours, before reaching an agreement on the suffrage plank. Then they agreed to hear the caucus case.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, who is the head of the American Commission for Irish Freedom, told the committee that the sub-committee's plan of leaving the Irish question to the League of Nations was regarded by the Irish as an evasion of the issue.

He advocated a plank pledging the Party to diplomatic recognition of the Irish Republic."

REJECT THE PLANK

The committee rejected the sub-committee's proposed plank and also another, favoring Irish independence.

The reading of the platform by Senator Glass, chairman of the resolutions committee, was marked by frequent applause.

The Convention rose and cheered for a full minute the platform's declaration on the League of Nations.

Another wave of cheering arose on the mention of ratification of the Treaty.

Reference to the woman's suffrage plank called forth a demonstration which lasted thirteen minutes, delegates parading the hall.

Belgian political circles show themselves very grateful for the support with which their claims have been met by the French.

TOTAL GERMAN DEBT

Berlin, July 1.—Herr Wirth the Minister of Finance estimates the total debt of Germany at 2,587,000,000,000 marks.

EXPERTS EXPLAIN

Brussels, July 4.—Yesterday's sitting of the Inter-Allied Conference was held in Palais des Academies under the presidency of M. Delacroix, the Belgian Premier. The same Allied delegates were present as at yesterday's sitting.

The Conference heard the report of experts on the essential points with regard to military and naval matters and reconstruction, which Germany must carry out in accordance with the Treaty of Versailles.

The question of procedure was then discussed and it was decided that the next sitting should be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, the German delegates being invited to take part.

The Conference finally reached an agreement on an official communication from the Reparations Commission with reference to the failure of Germany to fulfil her obligations.

DISCUSS INDEMNITY

Brussels, July 3.—The Inter-Allied Conference met yesterday morning and began the discussion of financial questions, especially that of the German indemnity. Only a part of the subjects on the agenda for the afternoon could be dealt with and the discussion of the remainder had to be deferred until this morning.

"The people of Brussels have marked out M. Millerand and Marshal Foch as their particular favorites among the delegates and their carriages never appear in the streets without occasioning a hearty ovation.

General Nollet, President of the Inter-Allied Commission of Control at Berlin, arrived here yesterday to attend the Spa Conference as French technical adviser.

FIRST BULLETIN

Brussels, July 2.—The following communique was issued by the Inter-Allied Conference this evening.

"The Conference held its first meeting this morning. The military and naval experts, including Marshal Foch, Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, and Vice-Admiral Sir Edward Charlton, reported on Germany's fulfilment of the military and naval clauses of the treaty and were instructed to draw up a note for presentation to Germany at Spa with regard to the destruction of war material, aeroplanes, etc. The Conference considered questions of reparation, particularly the question of the coal to be delivered by Germany under the treaty. Mr. Lloyd George, M. Millerand and the Belgian delegates this afternoon held an extraordinary session to discuss reparations."

BRITISHERS DEPART

London, July 1.—Mr. Lloyd George, Lord Curzon and Sir Laming Worthington-Evans (Minister without portfolio), who is replacing Mr. Austen Chamberlain, have left for Brussels with their respective staffs to attend the Inter-Allied Conference.

The French delegation, headed by M. Millerand, have left Paris for Brussels, the Italian Minister for Foreign Affairs, Count Sforza, accompanying the party. The Japanese Ambassador is already in the Belgian capital. There are no indications that the United States will be represented even in a watching capacity at the Brussels Conference, which is expected to last at least two days.

DISCUSS DIVISIONS

Brussels, July 1.—The following communique was issued by the Inter-Allied Conference this evening.

The British, Belgian and Italian delegates had a prolonged informal conference today with regard to the division of the amount of the reparations, to be received from Germany. There was no divergence of views with regard to Germany's liabilities.

LIST OF VIOLATIONS

Paris, July 3.—The military, naval and aeronautical experts, presided over by Marshal Foch, have drawn up a list of violations and non-executions of the terms of the Treaty of Versailles by the Germans. The document will be submitted to the Government at a forthcoming Cabinet meeting.

REFUSES TO OBEY

Berlin, July 1.—Herr Severing, Prussian Minister of the Interior, has informed the Foreign Office that he refuses to disband the Security Police, though he is willing that Entente officers should supervise their employment and equipment.

Brussels, July 3.—The following communique was issued here this evening:

"The second session of the Inter-Allied conference, presided over by M. Delacroix (the Belgium Premier), considered the report of the committees of experts with regard to naval, military and air disarmaments, in which Germany has failed to fulfil her obligations under the treaty of Versailles.

"The procedure to be followed at Spa who then discussed and it was decided to fix the next meeting of the Conference for July 5, to be held at Spa. The German delegates will be asked to take part in this conference.

"Finally the Conference took up the examination of the official communication of the Reparations Commission regarding the failure of Germany to fulfil her obligations in respect of the delivery of coal, in spite of the fact that the demands made on Germany have been less than those provided by the Treaty."

Smiles from the Mixed Court

There were once three men in a boat—on Soochow Creek.

They weren't the three Wise Men of Gotham who went to sea in a bowl.

But they did go to see; to see if the premises at 973 Miller Road didn't have a cache of opium.

One was a boatman, the second a coolie and the third a tailor.

There was no opium.

"Vast heaving," opined the boatman.

"Chop chop," agreed the coolie.

"But a stitch in time saves nine," argued the tailor, as he gathered up a lot of loose jewelry and personal effects that were lying around loose.

But the "crewel" police happened along just then and the three men now, instead of being in their boat, are in the jug for a year.

Time is money, and one should be saved as well as the other.

The time to save money is the morning of life.

The way to make money is to take advantage of every opportunity to earn.

The way to save money is to put it in a bank at interest.

The first dollar deposited in a bank may be the first brick in the new home you've dreamed of.

Money in one's pocket burns a hole and drops through.

Money in a bank earns interest every day in the year.

The secret of making money is the saving of it.

It is not what you earn, but what you save, that makes you rich.

Put your savings in a reliable bank and let it earn interest for you.

Uchida Says Japan Will Drop Claim To Shantung

between the banking group of Japan and the representative of the American group who recently came to Japan, and who seems to have previously reached an understanding with the British and French banking groups.

"On the other hand, the frank exchange of views between this Government and the other Governments concerned has led to a full appreciation on the part of the latter of the claims of Japan in respect of her national defense and economic existence.

ABOUT COMPLETED

"Thus the stage has now been reached where the organisation of the new Consortium is about to be completed.

"I presume you are already acquainted with the details of this matter, through the statement given out by the Foreign Office some time ago. I shall, however, for your information, briefly review the data contained in that statement.

"Regarding the question of the organisation of the new Consortium, consisting of Japanese, American, British and French banking groups, representatives of the Japanese group met in conference with the representatives of the American group who came to Japan in March this year, for the specific purpose of negotiating this matter; and perfect understanding was reached between them.

"This understanding was further confirmed by an exchange of notes on May 11.

LOANS TO CHINA

"It has ever been the endeavor of this Government, in matters connected with loans to China, rigidly to follow a policy in concert with the other Powers interested. It was in that spirit that Japan participated in the organisation of the old six-power Consortium, consisting of Japan, Great Britain, the United States, France, Germany and Russia.

"True to that policy, Japan has remained to this day a member of the old organisation, although the American group soon withdrew and Germany was expelled from it as a result of the Great War.

"Japan, moreover, did her best to try to persuade the American group to re-enter the old Consortium.

FOR PERFECT ACCORD

"When the question recently arose of making an advance of five million pounds to the Chinese Government, Japan again put forth her utmost efforts to bring about perfect accord between Japan, the United States, Great Britain and France.

"It was thus in keeping with her traditional policy that Japan promptly gave her approval in principle to the proposal for a new Consortium.

"The plan for organising a new Consortium for loans to China, with Japanese, American, British and French banking groups as its members, was first proposed in June, 1918, at the instance of the American Government.

"POOL" SUGGESTED

"It was suggested that all loans to the Chinese Government, or those guaranteed by the Chinese Government which were to be raised by public issue, whether they were of political or of economic character, should be pooled and come within the scope of the activities of the new Consortium.

"The scheme was, in due course, subscribed to by the respective Governments concerned. Representatives of the banking groups of the four Powers mentioned conferred in Paris in May, 1919, and an agreement, largely on the basis of the American proposal, was adopted on the main points, relative to the organisation of the Consortium.

FORMED NEW GROUP

"The agreement was submitted for the confirmation of the respective Governments and banking groups. Japan thereupon caused a new banking group to be formed, in order to participate in the proposed organisation. The other three Powers likewise accorded their confirmation to the Paris agreement. The fundamentals of the new Consortium were now defined and agreed upon.

"It has been the heartfelt desire of the Japanese Government throughout that, by the creation of a new loan organisation, needless financial competition among the nations in China should be terminated; thus not only promoting the prosperity of China herself, but also advancing the friendly co-operation of the nations concerned.

INVITED U.S. BACK

"It was in manifestation of that desire on her part that Japan, some time ago, took it upon herself to invite the American group to re-enter what was once the six-power group.

"Such being the case, it is only natural that Japan should give her willing consent to the American proposal; looking as the proposal does, to an enlargement of the field of co-operation among the Powers concerned and the premotion of their concerted action in China.

"While, however, the other Powers concerned can afford to look upon the question of the new Consortium solely (or mainly) from the standpoint of business interests, it is otherwise with Japan; inasmuch as her vital national interests are apt to be involved.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS

"Being contiguous to China, Japan has to take into consideration the requirements of her national defense and economic existence in dealing with a problem such as the one under discussion.

"The Powers concerned have hitherto shown willingness to appreciate the special and peculiar position of Japan. The Japanese Government, however, in confirming the Paris agreement, considered it advisable to arrive at a more definite understanding on this point with the Governments interested.

FRANK EXCHANGE

"A frank exchange of views with the American, British and French Governments has resulted in a full appreciation, on their part, of the main purpose of the Japanese proposals, which had in view the securing of our national defense and the safeguarding of our economic existence.

"The three Governments expressly declared to the Japanese Government that they not only contemplated no activities inimical to the vital interests of Japan, but that they were ready to give a general assurance which would be deemed sufficient to safeguard those interests.

CONFIRMED AGREEMENT

"Confident that the spirit of their (the Japanese Government's) proposals was completely understood by the Powers interested, the Japanese Government decided finally to confirm the agreement of Paris; and the result is the understanding just referred to between the representatives of the Japanese and American banking groups.

"A similar understanding will soon be entered into between the Japanese and the British and French groups.

"As for the scope of the activities of the new Consortium, it is understood that not all loans to China, but only such as are made direct to the Chinese Government or are guaranteed by the Chinese Government—and as are raised by public issue—are to be exclusively reserved for the Consortium; and that, consequently, loans to Chinese capitalists or corporations are left outside the scope of the Consortium."

THE SIBERIAN MESS

"I shall now, with your permission, turn to the situation in Siberia. Since the downfall of the Kolchak Government, the influence of the Bolsheviks has steadily been in the ascendant in the districts east of Baikal; such towns as Blagoveschensk, Nikolaievsk and Habarovsk having one after another fallen into their hands during January and February of this year.

"At Vladivostok there was established, in the latter part of January last, a provisional Government which seems to have succeeded in maintaining a degree of discipline so far not surpassed by any of the other Governments in Eastern Siberia.

THREE OTHERS

"Besides the Government at Vladivostok, there are in Eastern Siberia political bodies at Verdne-Udinsk, Blagoveschensk and Chita. The sphere of rule of these several Governments is naturally limited to their immediate neighborhood.

"In view of the fact that all hostilities have ceased in the districts round Chita, and that the Czecho-Slovak troops have been completely withdrawn from those districts, the Japanese Government have come to the decision, in conformity with previous declarations, to proceed to evacuate the said regions.

DIFFERENT HERE

"But the districts round Vladivostok stand on a different footing. Not only does the menace to the peace and security of Korea still exist in that quarter, but the situation tends rather to become aggravated in this respect.

"There are, moreover, a large number of Japanese subjects who require protection. The town of Habarovsk, again, constitutes a point of strategic importance on the way to the province of Saghalien.

A SAD DUTY

"In view of these considerations, the Japanese Government, as announced in the statement issued today, have decided to maintain a sufficient number of troops in these districts until peace and order have been fully restored.

"In reviewing the Siberian situation, it is a sad and painful duty for me to speak of the massacre at Nikolaievsk. Investigation by the authorities has so far failed to bring to light the details of what actually happened there. Such information, however, as has been gathered from various sources has been given out in public statements.

"From the time that reports were received of the imminent gravity of the situation at Nikolaievsk, the Government did everything possible to obtan exact information of the real conditions there, and to rescue the resident Japanese.

"Unfortunately, the incident occurred at a time of year when communication with those ice-bound regions is next to impossible.

HURRIED TROOPS

"As soon as the Amur and sea route became possible, the Government despatched warships, military contingents and officials charged with the duty of investigation. They arrived at Nikolaievsk on June 3, only to find that all of the seven hundred Japanese—men, women and children—had been massacred in an atrocious manner.

"There is not one instance in our history of so many Japanese having been massacred in a foreign land.

TO TAKE MEASURES

"In dealing with this cruel event, the Government are determined that the most suitable and proper measures shall be taken. In the absence, however, of any Government to which representations might be made, it has been decided to occupy strategic points in the province of Saghalien, until such time as there may come into existence a legitimate Government so as to render a satisfactory settlement of the matter possible."

"Besides the problems, an outline of which I have just laid before you, I am not unconscious of the lively discussion which is going on at home and abroad on the question of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. This question is engaging the serious consideraton of the Government."

PRESS IS ANGERED

Osaka, July 4.—The Government's announcement with regard to proposed action in Siberia and the Ministerial speeches in the Diet have called forth renewed attacks in the press.

The Osaka Asahi vigorously opposes the proposed occupation of parts of Saghalien and the stationing of troops in the Vladivostok and Habarovsk districts.

The journal charges Mr. Hara, the Premier, with acting solely upon the advice of the militarists, without consulting the Diet. The Asahi contends that the Government ought to have provided ample opportunities for a full discussion of the matter in the Diet now assembled, but that, instead of such a discussion, decision was arbitrarily made.

"WRONG DIRECTION"

"The proposed measures," the journal continues, "serve no other purpose than to drive the country further in the wrong direction because the Nikolaievsk incident was largely the result of a mistaken Siberian policy. The Japanese people at home do not approve such measures, which must deepen the suspicions of foreigners abroad, besides entailing huge expenditure for an indefinite period because the establishment of a responsible government in Russia is not yet in sight."

DEMANDS RESIGNATION

The Asahi points out that the first step towards the solution of the Nikolaievsk incident is the determination of the responsibility for leaving the Japanese nationals there unprotected. The journal demands the resignation of Mr. Hara, who, it states, is responsible for "the continual blundering policy in Siberia."

FINANCIAL SITUATION

Tokio, July 3.—The Minister of Finance, in the course of a speech in the House of Representatives today, outlining the financial nad economic policy of the Government, said that it had become necessary to introduce an additional budget, formed on the basis of the general budget, passed at the preceding session of the Diet, and aiming at perfecting national defense, adjusting communication equipment, promoting education and encouraging industries.

The additional budget estimated ordinary revenue at 46,000,000 Yen and special revenue at 209,000,000 Yen and ordinary expenditure at 222,000,000 Yen and special expenditure at 242,000,000 Yen, showing a deficit of 209,000,000 Yen, which would be covered by the surplus revenue from the present budget, which was now being carried out.

MILITARY BUDGET

The Minister declared that it was very difficult to estimate the exact amount of special military expenditure and a further increase might be necessary.

The Government was at present asking for an additional appropriation of 134,000,000 Yen up to March 1921, of which sum it was intended to borrow 122,000,000 Yen or to issue bonds for the amount.

With regard to National Defense, the Finance Minister said that the Government would follow its former policy of increasing the revenue from income-tax and wine-tax, covering the deficit by suspending the redemption of [illegible] loans. The revenue from taxes had generally decreased and the Government was compelled to reduce the amount of the appropriation to two-thirds.

The Government proposed to make up the difference as soon as possible in order to create a defense system of the standard required.

A BRIEF SESSION

Tokio, July 3.—In the course of his speech in the Diet this morning, the Premier, Mr. Hara, said: "The special session of the Diet being of brief duration, the Government intend to submit only those bills, the early passage of which is demanded by the national interest, namely those concerning national defense, increase of salaries, revision of the pension system, improvement of the judicial system, and the development of the national resources."

"With regard to our foreign relations, the question of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance is engaging the serious consideration of the Government. The question of loans to China has been solved, the Government are gratified to observe, by the formation of the new Consortium. But the question of Shantung is still unsettled, owing to the failure of the Chinese Government to accept our proposal of negotiations."

REGRETS NIKOLAIEVSK

"The Nikolaievsk incident is heart-rending in the extreme. The Government lament the fate of those who fell victims to atrocity, and the honor of our nation naturally demands positive action. Therfore the Government have decided to take the course announced in the statement published in the Official Gazette today. As also announced in the Official Gazette, the Government have decided, in conformity with their previous declarations, to evacuate those districts in Siberia in which the presence of Japanese troops is no longer needed."

AVOIDING PANIC

"I would add a few words regarding the present financial conditions of the country, with special reference to the adjustment of prices. The Government were careful to follow the policy of avoiding such measures as might cause a general depression by abruptly interfering with existing economic arrangements. In spite of that precaution, it is to be regretted that a financial disturbance has recently been experienced. The Government are doing their best to remedy the situation and secure financial stability."

Britain Insists They Fly Union Jack Two Years, To Satisfy U.S.A.

(Reuter's Service)

Shanghai, July 4.—The French Wireless Station this morning succeeded in picking up the following direct message from the German Wireless Station at Nauen:

"Count Lucovitz has left London for Berlin and Hamburg, bringing with him the recommendations of the German Embassy in London with regard to the proposed repurchase by the Hamburg-Amerika Company, on a basis of liberal credits, extending over a period of at least five years, of the German ships, confiscated by the British as a result of the scuttling of the German fleet at Scapa Flow.

"The British Government agreed to the sale on the condition that the ships should fly the British flag for at least two years, though under German control.

REFUSE THE DEMAND

"The Hamburg-Amerika Company refused and, on asking the reason for this demand by the British Government, were told that it was made 'Because of the public opinion of our Allies.' On being asked: 'Which Allies?' the British replied: 'The Americans.'

"The Hamburg-Amerika Company then replied that the price, demanded by the British, was impossibly high and insisted on the ships being sailed under the German flag. The Company decided to await the outcome of the American agreement in the same connection, which permits German-controlled ships to fly the German flag on the basis that the Germans are equals.

SALE CHANCE SLIM

"This agreement, according to shipping circles, will minimise the chances of a sale of the British ships.

"It is understood that Count Lucovitz, who is returning to Hamburg this week, is bringing with him the latest British proposal, which is that the ships shall fly neutral flags."

Americanism Theme Of Harding's Speech

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, July 1.—Senator Harding, in the course of his first campaign speech, urged that the preservation of "Americanism" was the first and highest duty of all citizens.

He declared that America did not intend to keep aloof but to arrogate to itself the keeping of the American continent and to uphold every concept of America's moral obligation.

They must make sure, Senator Harding added, that their own house was in order before they attempted the miracle of the stabilisation of the Old World.

WOMEN AGAIN!

Washington, July 1.—Following a conference with Senator Harding Governor Percival W. Clement of Vermont indicated that he would immediately call a special session of the Vermont Legislature to consider the women suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution which only requires the ratification of one more State to make it effective.

Reaffirm Reading Of Coal Measure

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 1.—The second reading of the coal bill was reaffirmed in the House of Commons today by 217 votes to 91. Robert Horne, the President of the Board of Trade, replying to the debate, stated that control of the export of coal would cease when things became normal but that he could not predict when that would be.

He said that he looked forward with very great hope to the provisions of the bill for bringing employers and workmen together.

All Sub-Commanders Save One Are Freed

London, July 1.—In the House of Commons today, replying to Horatio Bottomley, Mr. Bonar Law stated that all the German submarine commanders, whose names had been published by the Admiralty in September, 1918 as prisoners of war, had been released, except one, who was accused of grave violation of the laws of warfare and was being detained in England until the Government was satisfied that he should be tried.

Replying to Viscount Curzon, Mr. Bonar Law stated that the Government intended to raise at once the question of pressing the German Government immediately to proceed with the trial of war criminals.

BRITON OFFERS "EVERY GUN" TO AMERICAN

on June 11, the forces retreating towards Yochow and Changling.

SOUTHERNERS ENTER

The southern troops entered Changsha on June 14, under command of General Tan Yeh-kai. The rapid advance of the southern troops, and their prompt occupancy of Changsha, necessitated the hasty withdrawal of the northern armies and prevented the looting of that city.

During the period employed by General Tah in re-assembling his forces, the retreating army invaded Yochow and Changling and looted both places in a very thorough and systematic manner.

Then, on the morning of June 26, the troops embarked in a flotilla of junks, sampans and lighters and proceeded down the river.

OCCUPY YOCHOW

General Tan's troops were at the outskirts of Yochow on the eve of the departure of the Northerners and took possession of the city on June 26. His arrival was accompanied by no disorder and he was apparently welcomed by the inhabitants.

It was during the retreat of the northerners from Changsha to Yochow that Dr. Reimert was shot.

During this period of general confusion and disorder more than 10,000 Chinese women and children and other non-combatants were given shelter and protection in the compounds of the American missions.

TROOPS ON JOB

Following the death of Dr. Reimert the refugees were protected by the troops of the 20th division of the northern army. When it became necessary for this force to withdraw, an armed force of sailors from the U. S. S. destroyer Upshur, commanded by Lt. Com. Strother, was placed on shore to guard the compound. A similar force was landed from the U. S. S. Quiros, commanded by Lt. Com. Fergus, to guard the compound at Lakeside.

These forces remained on shore and successfully protected the lives of the refugees until the duty was taken over by a detachment from General Tah's army—Tah having given assurance that all non-combatants would be protected.

It was incident to this landing that Admiral Borrett made his historic pledge to Captain Kearney.

ALL QUIET NOW

At the present time conditions are quiet in Hunan, but the towns of Yochow and Changling are in bad shape as a result of the thorough looting.

When the inhabitants returned to their wrecked homes and stores they found neither food nor an article of trade or merchandise remaining; but they seemingly faced the issue with fortitude and at once set about retrieving their lost fortunes.

Changsha is now suffering from flood conditions. The Bund is inundated and the lower floors of the buildings adjacent to it are filled with water.

SENT WOMEN AWAY

When the disorders broke out all foreign women were removed from Yochow and Changling and transported to Hankow on the Japanese gunboat Saga. It is a source of considerable pride to the American navy, as represented by its patrolling vessels on the Yangtsze, that they were able in this instance not only to protect American lives and property, but, on a larger scale, to insure safety to some 10,000 Chinese women and children who were non-combatants in the battle area.

It is also to be noted that the first cargo of rice for the relief of the foodless inhabitants of Yochow should have arrived on the American steamer Meifoo—a contribution from the Chinese Benevolent Association, sent forward through the agency of the Hankow Y.M.C.A.

PRAISE HEINSICHSOHN

Officers of the American fleet are enthusiastic in their praise of the untiring efforts throughout the disorder of Mr. Heinrichsohn, of the American mission. His knowlege of the Chinese and their language, and the confidence reposed in him by the people of the district, were of the greatest assistance in restoring order.

The American patrol force is still on duty on the Upper Yangtsze and will remain there until there is absolute assurance that there is no danger of further disorder.

Shanghai Defeats Navy In No-Hit, No-Run Game

Fourth Of July Contest Is Played Under Blazing Sky Before Big Gathering Of Fans

It was a great day. Everybody said so and the public will have to take it at that. The sun came out bright and warm thus doing its share toward putting the ball field into playing condition. Conditions were superb for a fast game and the players reflected their appreciation by snappy work both at the bat and in the field.

The Umpires, Pop Guernsey and Doc Clapp kept the players right on their toes so that the game was not dragged out too long, even though it was replete with plenty of hitting on the Shanghai side. One astonishing thing about the contest was the fact that it was started exactly on time. Even the crowd that overflowed the stands and swarmed over the ropes in the outfields were in their places when the game started at three thirty.

HOW IT HAPPENED

Shanghai took the field first after a short practice and the game began without the usual ceremony of the Consul throwing over the first ball. The first two men to face Gill went out on strikes in quick order. The third batter lifted an easy fly to right which the usually reliable Hoppy misjudged. The runner was killed off a few seconds later on an attempted steal. This was the only break in the monotony of the no hit, no run game until the eighth inning when Brown got in the way of one Clair's fast ones and was allowed to reach third on two steals. The next two batters struck out and a weak grounder to Ladd caused the Navy rooters to pipe down.

Outside of these two incidents the Navy never had a chance, although the gobs gave the home boys the best opposition seen here this season. The undefeated Champs went out in their regular go-get-em style and by means of a three-base hit by Ladd, Hoppy was scored from first with the initial run of the game.

The next inning saw no scoring but the following innings in every case saw Shanghai scoring at least one run. The lack of practice on both sides was very apparent but it was particularly noticeable in the weak batting of Shanghai. With the coming of hot weather the team will get back into shape for the coming series scheduled for the middle of the month. The pitchers for Shanghai appeared to have all that was necessary as the score will show, but it is also true that more frequent warm ups will not injure their efficiency.

CUP IS PRESENTED

The presentation of the big silver cup that went to the winners was made by Mrs. Robert Dollar in a very pretty speech. Cy Wilhoit who received the trophy for the team tried to say something appropriate, but as a speechmaker Cy is a corking good first base man. The appearance of the victors in their new uniforms caught the eye of the crowd. The team made a good appearance in their holiday raiment and incidentally put to out one of the clubhouse prophets who gloomily foretold defeat because of the wearing of said new apparel. The jinx was not on the job, however, so the old ball players' superstition will have to be put on the shelf.

The Bolsheviks will now devote all their surplus energies toward wresting the crown away from the regulars and will make their first real fight Thursday afternoon at the Race Course as soon after five o'clock as possible. It promises to be an interesting seance.

German Food Riots Spread; 3 Killed

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 1.—Food riots continue to be reported from Germany. Thus it is stated that many food and clothing shops were plundered at Luebeck, where the police fired on the rioters, killing three persons. A state of seige has been declared at Luebeck and the Citizens Guard called up, with the result that order has been restored, so the report runs.

The opinion in London is however that the reports of such disorders are exaggerated in order to excuse Germany for not reducing her forces.

MONEY CRISIS IN VLADIVOSTOK

Foreigners Close Business Until Zemstvo Finances Are Adjusted

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, July 3.—Foreigners in Vladivostok closed their businesses at noon today owing the Government's non-removal of the selling price of the old money.

The International Committee, in a letter to the press, states:

"Our decision is neither a boycott nor a strike. Foreigners are just as anxious as the Russians to see the rouble firm but it is already depreciating and we are unable to cover ourselves, therefore we cannot permit this. We are willing at all times to assist the Government to uphold the currency but we request that it will reconsider this law."

"MATTER OF LABELS"

London, July 1.—Mr. Philip Snowden, who has just returned from Russia, says that there is no socialism or communism in Russia: It is all a matter of labels. The Soviet makes no pretence of being democratic. The dictatorship of the proletariat means the dictatorship of about six men.

London, July 1.—In the House of Commons today, replying to Colonel John Gretton, Mr. Bonar Law stated that the negotiations with M. Krassin were still proceeding but, as the Government had concluded that the time for a decision had arrived, they had intimated this to M. Krassin, who was returning to Russia in order to submit the conditions offered by the British Government, to the Soviet authorities and in order to be in a position to give a definite answer.

Seattle To Be Free Port

Seattle, June 5.—P. Leong Hingkee, a leading exporter of Hongkong, who was a visitor at the Foreign Trade Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce prior to his departure for New York, where he will start on a tour around the world urging the renewal of agitation to make Seattle a free port. Mr. Hingkee said:

"Hongkong has been a free port and before the war it handled more tonnage than any other port in the world. Shanghai and Manila are duty ports and the advantage of Hongkong is marked and today there is talk of making Manila a free port to compete with our city.

"Suppose a Canadian exporter wishes to market surplus pain in the Far East. If he ships to Manila he must pay duty. If he sends his cargo to Hongkong it has the advantage of a free port.

"If China could send its raw material to Seattle, its nearest American port, people from all over the North American continent would come to Seattle to make purchases and reship later on.

"A free port is an expression of free trade between nations and is a token of a more free trade expansion idea."

Congress At Genoa Aims Move Against Employment Sharks

GRAIN SURPLUS IS BIG, REPORT

Total Of 105 Million Quintals Of Wheat And Rye In World, Experts Say

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, July 2.—Agricultural statistics, issued by the International Institute of Agriculture, show that on April 1 there were still 105,000,000 quintals of wheat and rye available in exporting countries, namely, 60,000,000 in North America, 32,000,000 in South America and 13,000,000 in Australia.

The requirements of importing countries between April and their respective harvests are 81,000,000 quintals and consequently a surplus will be available for the coming season.

GOOD HARVEST DUE

The institute forecasts a generally favorable summer and indicates that there will be a good European harvest. Should this forecast be borne out, the requirements of countries, importing on a large scale, will be less than last year.

British India had a larger crop than last year and so it is probable that exports will recommence next season. The United States expects a smaller crop than in 1919 but above the pre-war average. Canadian crop prospects are favorable and the yield will possibly be much larger than in 1919.

It is held that the outlook for the coming year does not justify serious anxiety either for importers or exporters.

COMMITTEE RETURNS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Harbin, July 3.—The Chinese Committee of Investigation will return to Harbin from Vladivostok tomorrow evening.

REJECTS COMPROMISE

London, July 2.—The House of Lords today rejected without a division a bill, introduced by Lord Monteagle, proposing a Parliament on Dominion lines for Ireland, after a speech by Lord Birkenhead, who declared that the bill abrogated the supremacy of the Imperial Parliament.

WARNED TO RESIGN

Glorious Weather Graces Independence Day Here

incident of the murder of an American missionary when Admiral Borrett told Captain Kearney in command of the American ships there:

"If you are attacked I will come to your assistance with every man and every gun I have."

Mr. Edwin S. Cunningham Consul General for the United States, expressed pleasure over the fact that the American nation is every day becoming better acquainted with the nations of Europe and that former good feelings are being intensified and improved. He said that even here in Shanghai the spirit is being shown by the manner in which Americans are taking up responsibilities which they should have taken up long ago.

He declared that the American Flag and all it represents means something real and forceful and despite the present day unrest the day in the dim and distant future when, if ever, it will be otherwise.

BELGIUM REMEMBERS

The dean of the consular service, Mr. D. Siffert, consul general for Belgium, was next called upon and was greeted with a roar of applause.

"Belgium cannot, must not will not forget what America has done for our people," he said "The United States always take up the responsibilities we expect her to take up in time.

"In 4915 and 1916 I was called 'the optimistic Belgian Consul at Shanghai,' but I had reason for my optimism. I always thought we would win the war for I knew that America could not stay out."

PEACE IN CHINA

He expressed hope of an early peace in China and said he was greatly pleased to see the American colony in Shanghai growing so rapidly.

After the orchestra had played "America," which was sung by the assemblage, Mr. Alliste Campbell was called upon as representative of Great Britain. Mr. Campbell's war work took him to the United States and he is thoroughly familiar with conditions there.

He told of the need of co-operation between the nations and said:

"In peace it is as necessary for us to work together for the safety of the world as it was in time of war."

CITES PRINCE'S WELCOME

Mr. Campbell cited the welcome that was given to the Prince of Wales on his recent visit to the United States as evidence of the close relationship that is felt between Great Britain and the United States.

He spoke in a happy vein and related the story of the Englishman who was showing an American friend the war trophies at Westminster and suddenly came upon a small flag in one corner. Embarrassed, the Briton said:

"I say, I hope you don't mind old chap, but this is a flag we took at Bunker Hill."

"Sure, I don't mind," cheerfully replied the American. "We've got the hill."

Mr. T. M. Knight spoke on behalf of the French government.

"The friendship that was sealed with blood on the battlefield will never be forgotten," he asserted. "The American Eagle with its spread wings will always symbolise to France the Americans flying to the aid of beleaguered France."

A JOYOUS OCCASION

The Settlement was bedecked in the flags of all nations; there were numerous private picnic and motor parties, teas, dances and festivities throughout the community. Kerry's orchestra furnished excellent music for the dancers at the Columbia Country Club tea and, in the evening, the cafes and hotels were thronged with merry-makers.

One of the unique features of the day's entertainment was the old-fashioned picnic at the Recreation Grounds, after the baseball game in which the Shanghai Regulars trimmed the Sailors by a score of 8 to 0.

'HOME-SIDE" PICNIC

More than 1,000 happy Americans assembled on the lawn, spread tablecloths and enjoyed a "homeside" basket dinner. Then they took seats in the grandstand and watched a motion-picture show, which was somewhat delayed but thoroughly satisfactory.

While the electricians were stringing a cable to the motion-picture machine the crowd amused itself by singing in chorus familiar American songs.

Earlier in the day the kiddies had their innings with races and games.

WARSHIP SALUTES

An unusual feature of the celebration yesterday happened when the French warship Desaix steamed up the river and fired a salute in honor of the American national holiday, which was replied to by the U. S. S. General Alava.

It is against the harbor regulations of the Municipal Council for ships of the nations represented in the International Settlement to fire salutes in the harbor here; but this ruling does not affect vessels of other countries, and does not prevent the answering of salutes by American and British men-of-war.

THE DAY IN PARIS

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, July 4.—The American Independence Day was celebrated throughout France yesterday with great enthusiasm. In Paris flags were flown from the public buildings and on many private houses.

A touching ceremony took place yesterday before the statue of Washington, which stands opposite the Ministry of Marine. Mr. Hugh Wallace, the United States Ambassador, was present.

Two magnificent wreaths, offered by Alsace and Lorraine and the Paris Municipal Council, were placed at the foot of the statue. Subsequently a battalion of infantry marched past with band and colors.

"REDS" GATHER 72 DIVISIONS AGAINST POLES

Latter Continue To Report Gains, Despite Being Outnumbered

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 1.—The Times Berlin correspondent telegraphs: "The Reds are concentrating 72 divisions on the Polish frontier and a new offensive is impending. At present the Poles are stubbornly resisting Red pressure of the south-west from the Pripet and to the Northwest from Jitomir. The object of the Reds is apparently to drive the Poles back on the Galician frontier in the direction of Lemberg."

FIGHTING CONTINUES

Paris, July 4.—Fighting is continuing on the Polish front with alternate successes and reverses. On the Ubord (?) line the Bolsheviks, who had suffered great losses, have brought up fresh troops.

Fighting is continuing on the Korsoe-Szepietowka districts with no decisive result. The latest report from Warsaw states that the Sluesza front has been definitely restored by the Polish Army.

REPORT "RED" LOSSES

Warsaw, July 3.—The following communique is issued by the Polish General Staff today:

"In Polesia, north of the Pripet, the Bolsheviks have suffered great losses as a result of Polish counter-attacks.

"Further south, during a smashing attack by General Barachowitz's volunteers, the majority of the opposing Bolshevik troops deserted to the Polish side.

"At Olewki, Ukrainian detachments under the command of Colonel Dezerko attacked Bolshevik detachments in the direction of Karosten, defeated them and captured two guns.

"The Volhynia sector is quiet.

"Enemy attacks in the region of Nowa have been repulsed with great enemy losses."

BOLSHEVIKS ADVANCE

Warsaw, July 1.—A Polish communique says: "East of Szepietowka the enemy have occupied part of Poland which the Polish troops had previously evacuated."

TWO FIRES REPORTED

In the last few days there have been two outbreaks of fire in the Central District, which but for early calls and prompt attention might have been attended with serious results.

The first was on July 2, at Messrs. Grenard, Betinos and Co., chemists, Nanking Road, where some books were burned as a result of which a man is being charged with arson at the Mixed Court.

Sunday at 1:29 p.m. a telephone message was received reporting a fire at Foochow and Honan Roads. A section of Central Division responded and on the machines turning out of the Station volumes of thick smoke were seen issuing from the second floor windows of the Commercial Press, Honan Road. A quantity of stationery on some shelves on the second floor were found to be on fire, and the flames were just getting through the ceiling to the floor above, and spreading in every direction. The fire was extinguished without difficulty, very little water was used by the Brigade, and an excellent stop being effected. Owing to the dense smoke and fumes from some burning celluliod it was very warm work.

SUMMER AND THE BABY.

Hot Weather Perils And How To Avert Them

The summer months are the most dangerous to infants and young children. Cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery, come on so quickly during the hot season that often the little one is beyond aid almost before the parents realise he is ill. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy. Read what Mrs. W. S. Bassam, of Kingston, Ontario, says about them.

"I began using Baby's Own Tablets when my little girl was about three months old," Mrs. Bassam writes. "At that time the child had indigestion badly. She was vomiting and had diarrhoea constantly. Food did her no good and she was very thin.

"I did not find any medicine to help until we tried Baby's Own Tablets; then the vomiting and diarrhoea ceased and she began to improve almost at once. Since then whenever her stomach is out of order we give her the Tablets and the result is always all that we desire. They are the very best medicine I have ever used for a child."

ENTERTAINMENT SUCCESS

The entertainment given by the alumnae of St. Mary's Hall, Jessfield at the Olympic Theater on June 25 and 28 has added about $2000 to the fund to be used in the erection of the new auditorium to the new St. Mary's Hall.

The faculty, alumnae, and students feel the play could not have been the success it was had it not been for the splendid help given so cheerfully by Mr. Graham Barrow.

NOTICE

Whereas under instructions from the Ministry of Communications at Peking to the effect that the management of the "Hwah" line of steamers, their Marine Insurance and all Expenditure in connection with the said steamers are to be entrusted to the care of the Yu Fong Steamship Co. who shall make advances to meet all expenditure, whereas, after the transfer, this Administration shall still strictly exercise due supervision with a view to prevent unnecessary expenditure, and whereas the Yu Fong S.S. Co. have since fixed the first of July, 1920 as the date to take over the management, I, as Commissioner of this Administration have transferred all documents relating to all steamers and of accounts pending settlement to the Yu Fong S.S. Co.

Commencing from the first of July, 1920, this Administration will cease to receive or pay all steamers' accounts. All moneys due to this administration before the 1st July, 1920, and now outstanding will be received by the Yu Fong S.S. The above transfer has been reported to the Ministry of Communications by wire, in addition to notifying the Yu Fong S.S. Co. to carry out all conditions in conformity with the agreement entered into by the Ministry of Communications with the Yu Fong S.S. Co. Adverting to the notice inserted in the leading papers by the Yu Fong S.S. Co. in respect of money and other matters, the statement is not quite consistent with the terms of the agreement entered into by the Yu Fong S.S. Co. with the Ministry of Communications.

Second Announcement

The fact that this Administration has carried out the instructions of the Ministry of Communications and the terms of the agreement entered into by the Yu Fong S.S. Co. with the Ministry of Communications that the management of the "Hwah" line of steamers was to be transferred to the said Company has been already advertised in the local papers.

Adverting to the statement published today in the Chinese newspapers by the Yu Fong s.s. Co. to the effect that Accounts incurred in 1917 and 1918 have also been handed over to them, we must point out that the said Accounts consist of statements of accounts with vouchers for money received from the American Shipping Board on account of the s.s. "Hwah Jah" etc.

These accounts and vouchers were handed over to them for reference in order to enable them to deal with the American Shipping Board and to make up final report to the Ministry of Communications.

It is surprising to note that the Yu Fong S.S. Co. has inadvertently taken the matter to be a request for payment of old outstanding debts.

We hold receipt from the Yu Fong S.S. Co. for all documents regarding the transfer and the management of the "Hwah" line of steamers. These documents have never been taken back by us.

The Yu Fong S.S. Co. commencing from the 1st day of July, 1920, is therefore responsible for the management and accounts of the "Hwah" line of steamers.

Besides wiring the above facts to the Ministry of Communications, the public is hereby again notified.

NOTICE

Referring to the fact that this Company has been instructed by the Ministry of Communications to take charge of the expenses connected with the personnel, repairs, and insurance of the "Hwah" line of steamers, this Company is unable to assume charge of the above mentioned matters as previously announced, because the Chinese Government Steamship Administration has not acted in accordance with the terms of the agreement entered into and the orders of the said Ministry. Consequently we returned all transferred documents to the said Administration on the 30th of June, 1920. These documents have been refused acceptance by Commissioner Sah of the said Administration.

Inasmuch as this appointment to take over charge of matters aforesaid was received directly from the Ministry of Communications, this Company does not recognise any third party having authority in this; and has accordingly reported the case to the said Ministry for instructions before further action. We therefore beg to announce to the public once again that meanwhile this Company will bear no responsibility whatever for expenses relating to the aforesaid personnel, repairs, and insurance of the above mentioned vessels.

How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental peripostitis esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filing with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

The Great Convention

THE Democratic National Convention which is still in session in San Francisco, having entered upon its second week yesterday, is proving to be one of the really great political conventions of American history. The fight has now switched from platform to candidates. The Administration platform has gone through as planned with only one alteration but that alteration probably will prove of tremendous importance, and certainly will swing many votes into the Democratic column.

Instead of going before the country in favor of the League of Nations Covenant and Treaty of Peace just as President Wilson brought them back from Paris, the Democrats, after a bitter and protracted fight, decided in favor of mild reservation which make clearer our obligations to the Associated Nations." To this declaration neither Europe nor America will object and it is to the credit of the Administration forces, that in order to keep peace, they yielded this much. As a result they have been able to sweep everything else before them, and offer the country a strong platform with a united party back of it.

Every matter in controversy has been fought out in the open on the floor of the convention, on its merits and after proper debate. At Chicago, the Republicans were afraid of Johnson and they were afraid of his platform and as a compromise they took his platform and he accepted their candidate—Harding. The decision which eliminated Wood, Hoover and Lowden, must have come as a shock to most Republican voters. At this distance it struck one that the Republicans had blundered both in their platform and in their candidate.

Certainly this was the judgment of the Democrats for whereas, before the Republican convention, they were almost without hope, we see them now full of enthusiasm and confidence, holding one of the greatest conventions in their history.

As to the fight for the nomination which is now in progress, the Democrats can hardly go wrong. Cox and McAdoo are leading, with Davis probably in the best "dark horse" position in case of the deadlock between the two first named proving unbreakable otherwise. Any one of the three is superior to Harding as a vote-getter.

Cox is Governor of Ohio, which is the State that Harding represents in the United States Senate. Ohio is one of the so-called "strategic" States and if both the Republican and Democratic nominees should be Ohio men, a unique political battle would develop there. Cox's strong personal hold on the voters of Ohio undoubtedly is helping him in the fight for the Presidential nomination. In 1918, which was a Republican year, Cox ran for Governor of Ohio on the Democratic ticket, and although the State went overwhelmingly Republican, Cox was elected. He was in fact the only Democrat on the whole State ticket to be chosen, even the Lieutenant Governor being a Republican.

As to the general situation, the Democrats now are fighting for the League of Nations with mild reservations and for the Treaty of Peace as it was drawn at Paris; the Republicans are opposing the League and demanding a separate peace with Germany. President Wilson evidently is delighted with the course of events for in his reply to the greetings and congratulations of the democratic convention he said, referring to the League of Nations:

"The course the Party has taken fills me with perfect confidence that it will go from victory to victory until the true traditions of the Republic are vindicated and the world is convinced not only of our strength and prowess but of our integrity and devotion to the highest ideals. This conquering purpose nothing can defeat."

CLEAR the stage. Switch off the lights. Let's go. I haven't nearly enough elbow room in the couple of columns that are placed at my disposal in the Pink 'Un, Sunday after Sunday, and so I have persuaded the Editor to let me have one of his long slim columns daily.

But I am no glutton for work, kind reader, and you are no glutton for punishment. So I am going to share the column with you. What is one man's tragedy is another's comedy. We laugh at some of the tales of how the June settlement was made but the settlement was tragic enough to some. So if you laugh at some of my serious efforts in this column, please grant me the privilege of laughing at some of yours.

* * *

We shall in this column, I hope, discuss Music, the Public Band, Art, our unfinished Municipal Building, Literature, the League of Nations, Drama, local profiteering, Fiction, the effects of the local Vice Commission's report, Sport, local traffic conditions, Prohibition, the Presidential campaign in America, and various other topics. We shall try our pens at limericks and other forms of rhyme.

Do not, however, think I am going to publish everything you send in. The editor wields a wicked blue pencil. Which reminds me.

An ambitious young author sent a humorous paragraph to the editor of a daily paper. Time passed and he heard nothing. Nor was it printed. So he wrote to inquire about it.

"I sent you a joke about ten days ago. I have heard nothing respecting its safe receipt, and should be glad to hear whether you have seen it."

The editor's reply was as follows:

"Your joke arrived safely, but up to the present we have not seen it."

However, do not let that discourage you. It is better to be cheerful and optimistic, like the Scottish lad who, when sailing for New York, recently took a corkscrew with him.

* * *

Or be optimistic after the fashion of the angelic Labor Party which met last week at Scarborough and resoluted that the Irish people are entitled to decide for themselves the form of government they desire. What has this to do with labor? And that isn't the point in the Irish question. The trouble is, if they form a government who's going to keep them from being a' gin it?

So Wilson says to the man from Platte,
"Although you say I'm an autocrat
I'll still stand pat—
And I'll bet my hat
The People decide I'm a Democrat"

* * *

Speaking of party platforms, have you heard this one? Two negroes are discussing the political situation. Says one, "Ah likes Mistah Wilson all right but Ah don't like his platfohm." Says the other, "Lo'd, niggah, don't you all know that a political platfohm am jes like a railroad platfohm? It haint to stand on, it's only to git in on!"

* * *

New York, I hear, is so dry that the folks are sticking their postage stamps on with pins.

The Right To Strike: A Debate Between Gov. Allen Of Kansas And Samuel Gompers

Whether the right to strike is inalienable and a law preventing it, such as that establishing the Kansas State Industrial Court, an infringement upon the liberty of every individual workman, or whether the interests of the public are paramount, was the issue debated by Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, and Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas in Carnegie Hall New York, on the evening of May 28.

Mr. Gompers asserted that the Kansas law meant nothing less than slavery for American workmen. Governor Allen contended that it was the only effective method yet attempted to protect the public interest. "The law does not take away from the individual workman the divine right to quit work," he said. "It takes away from Mr. Gompers the divine right to order him to quit work."

In summing up his side of the controversy, Governor Allen asked the following question, which Mr. Gompers failed to answer:

When a dispute between capital and labor brings on a strike affecting the production or distribution of the necessaries of life, thus threatening the public peace and impairing the public health, has the public any rights in such a controversy, or is it a private war between capital and labor?

If you answer this question in the affirmative, Mr. Gompers, how would you protect the rights of the public?

And in addition, I wish him to define for us, if he will, who had the divine right to forbid the switchmen to strike in their outlaw strike; who controls this divine right to quit work?

DEMAND AN ANSWER

"If I had the time, I would answer that question," Mr. Gompers replied.

"You can't; you can't," voices cried in all parts of the hall.

"I will prove to you that I can, if I live long enough," Mr. Gompers said. "Let me say this: An innocent child can ask more questions of his father——"

"Answer it, answer," came the cries.

"The Governor's adherents are ladies and gentlemen," retorted Mr. Gompers sarcastically. "I shall try to meet the Governor's statements as best I can."

Every seat in the hall was taken, and the fire regulations were stretched to provide places for those standing. There was apparently an equal division of adherents, the applause made by Mr. Gompers's labor supporters being met in volume by that from two hundred Kansans who accompanied Governor Allen here on a special train. While the remarks of the debaters were courteous, their supporters in the audience showed a very partisan spirit. Groans and "boos," which could not be drowned by the great applause for him, greeted every appearance of Governor Allen.

Mr. Gompers asserted that the only point at issue was freedom. Any abridgment of the right of a man to quit work, he said, constituted involuntary servitude, forbidden by the United States Constitution. Mr. Gompers declared that he was opposed to the use of violence in connection with any strike, but contended that the workers had a right to organise to quit work whenever they pleased and asserted that it was wrong and unjust to attempt to make it a crime.

'RIGHT TO STRIKE'

He declared that the strike had been the weapon used by the workers to bring about the betterment of their condition, and said it was through successful strikes that the "breaker boys" had been brought from the coal mines and the children from the textile factories to the schoolroom and the playground.

"The right for a man to own himself," he said, "the right to be free from a court's direction or a Judge's direction, when we exercise that normal and natural right to stop work, not to commit crime, not to commit overt acts, but to stop work, to work or not to work, is his right, and not the right of Government nor States nor courts. It is man's; it is the human right, from which there can be no departure without taking away the freedom, the liberty and the natural expression of the human.

"That is the thing for which we are contending and will contend, no matter what may come. The men and the women of labor of America are sovereign citizens with all of you, and if it should come to pass that you can make labor compulsory for the working people, there is no reason why they should not turn upon all and say, 'Well, if compulsory labor is right, then we shall all be compelled to labor for society.'"

Governor Allen told how the strike of the coal miners in Kansas last year had led to a coal famine and actual suffering in the homes and hospitals, and how he had taken over the coal mines of the State by direction of the Supreme Court and had mined coal enough by volunteer workers to meet the emergency. He scored the labor unions, and told how men who wished to return to work had been terrorised by their union comrades. He cited one particular case, in which a miner who resumed work was not only expelled by the union but was practically denied a living by threats to his grocer and landlord not to sell him food or furnish him a roof.

Governor Allen said he believed a just Government could do better than that, and stated that the State Industrial Court law was passed to make a recurrence of the conditions of the coal strike impossible. He declared that it was a fair law, imposing justice upon both employers and workmen, with the interest of the public as first consideration.

Under the arrangement made by the committees for the debaters, Mr. Gompers spoke for an hour, and Governor Allen followed for the same period. Then each had half an hour for rebuttal. Mr. Gompers then spoke for ten minutes, Governor Allen for fifteen and Mr. Gompers closed in a five-minute speech.

DEBATE OPENED BY GOMPERS

Mr. Gompers opened the debate by characterising the Kansas Industrial Court law, compelling the submission of industrial disputes to its jurisdiction, as slavery. "We are now at the parting of the ways," he said. "On the one hand we have the great constructive movement for progress, for civilisation, and with all the tasks these impose, and on the other hand we have those who are leading the course of reaction, of injustice, of tyranny. The time is at hand when there must be determined whether the eternal principles of freedom, of justice and democracy shall hold sway or be supplanted by the tyranny and the injustice as of old.

"In every country on the face of the globe, and in all eras, there have been the incidents and the vents of struggle—struggle for expression, struggle for a better life, a happier day. All the efforts of old to suppress by law, by edict, the attempts of the people to move in the labor and the struggle for their up-lift have been in vain. The law attempted to be enacted, whether in the United States Congress or by any State within the Union, will find its exact fate as the laws and edicts and decrees of sovereigns and Parliaments and Judges in the past.

"The hope for freedom is in every man's breast. The hope for a better time for him and his is in the mind of every honest thinking man. He who would not struggle to leave the industrial field better than when he entered the struggle for life and of life, the man who would not try to bring about a better day for him and his dependents and those who are to follow, is a poltroon to himself and to society. We are living in the United States of America, in a republic, a republic which has commanded and earned and deserved the respect, the loyalty, the love and the devotion and the willingness to sacrifice on the part of every man and woman now living in our country.

"The difference between a slave and free man is that the slave must work when his master or owner directs and wills. The free man may stop his work, and whatever consequences of suffering that may be involved it is his suffering and the suffering of no one else. The right of a free man to dispose of himself, of his labor and his labor power has been set forth in a Supreme Court decision and opinion read by the then Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Mr. Hughes, in which the principle is set forth clearly that no man is free, that involuntary servitude exists when a man must work against his will.

SHOULD PUNISH VIOLENCE

"If anyone should attempt to portray to you violence in connection with a strike, if that violence is in the form of any attack upon life, body or property, I will agree in advance to say that that must be punished and wiped out of the affairs of our republic. But the right of sovereign free men in the republic of the United States can only be maintained when men shall have the right, as Lincoln said, 'Thank God, we live in a country where, at the last point, the workman may stop work.'

"I prefer to align myself with the patriotism and the far-seeing justice, and the vision of the martyred Lincoln, than with any reactionary who wants to enforce compulsory labor.

"There is but one ground upon which any justification may be assumed to tie men to their jobs and make strikes unlawful; that is the confession that our republican institutions and our democracy have ceased. Admit that and I have no word to debate except that I combat it every moment of my life. The Boston Tea Party was a very nice affair. What was it except a strike against England, tyranny and injustice?

"If it were not for the unions what would have been the fate of our boys and our girls in the United States working in the mills and the factories at 5 and 6 years of age, twelve or fourteen hours a day? What would have been the fate of the boys in the coal mines, the breaker boys who, from 6 to 8 years old, were put into the mines and seldom saw daylight? And it was the strike of the coal miners that took those boys out of the coal mines.

"It was the strike of the textile workers that took the children from out of the mills and put them into the schoolroom and in the playground, where they could imbibe God's sunshine and grow into the manhood and the womanhood of the future, upon which the perpetuity of our republic must depend. It was the strike of the men and the women in the needle trades that broke up the sweatshop when all the laws of the States could not prohibit it or prevent it.

"There are some things which are axiomatic. Water runs downhill despite the force pump, lightning strikes in spite of the lightning rod; the sun shines in spite of awnings and parasols; and so with the labor movement, it has done so much, it has brought light and hope and opportunity to the masses of labor that, make law what you will to outlaw strikes, depend upon it your law will be futile and you will simply make criminals and lawbreakers of workmen who are honest, patriotic citizens."

Mr. Gompers recalled the loyalty of organised labor during the war. He declared that assertion of the right of the individual workman to quit work while denying it to an organisation of workmen, was merely a subterfuge. Modern industry was so complex, he said, that the individual workman had no power unless organised with his fellows.

REVIEWS COAL STRIKE

"I am come to you tonight not as a representative of capital or a representative of labor, but as a representative of us all, the general public," said Governor Allen at the beginning of his speech. The Governor stated that to discuss the Industrial Court he would have first to go back to the coal strike in Kansas last Winter.

"I do not do it for the purpose of passing any judgment upon the merits of the controversy," he said. "I do not know who was the most to blame. The fuel ban had been lifted by Dr. Garfield, and coal went up. And then the miners came, demanding an increase of 65 percent in their wages and a shortening of their hours to five days in the week, six hours in the day. I was concerned in reference to that only as the Executive of a State which, when the strike came on, was out of coal except as to the operators and the miners.

"Within two weeks from the hour the strike began there was the necessity to close down the schoolhouses, to shorten all of the activities of industry. Finally there was suffering in homes and in hospitals, and there was coal in Kansas enough and to spare.

"And so, acting under what I believed to be my moral right as the Executive of that State, I went before the Supreme Court with request that the State be given over the mines in order that we might produce coal for a people that was threatened with freezing.

"After the receivership was granted I went for a week or ten days holding meetings in the mining district, begging the miners to go back under the assurance that whatever was granted to them in the way of benefit in the negotiations then going on in Washington would be made retroactive, pledging them, moreover, that if by the first of the year—it was then November—their own officers and the operators' representatives had not agreed upon an acceptable wage scale, then the State would take up the subject and we would make a fair and just wage scale, and whatever scale we made would be retroactive.

MANY WANTED TO WORK

"I want to say in justice to a great number of the miners, that they wished to go back to work. Frequently they said to me in open meeting, 'We would like to go back,' but somehow they had lost that boasted liberty which the distinguished President of the American Federation of Labor has told us about tonight.

"One man had the temerity to stay on his job, a man by the name of Guffy, and the union suspended him from membership for ninety-nine years, and then went to the grocery store where the man had bought his groceries and threatened the extinction of the business of that grocery store if they sold to Guffy, and then they went to Guffy's landlord, and said, 'You can't keep Guffy in your house any longer.' The union has suspended him from membership for ninety-nine years.' That is your personal liberty!

"When they did not go back to work then we called for volunteers, and after twenty-four hours, more than eleven thousand people of Kansas who had no interest in the subject of the quarrel between capital and labor, but thought only of the dire emergency, responded to the call and said, 'Let us dig coal.' From that great offering we chose enough men to man the strip-mines of the State. We chose them from the lads who had been in the service of their country.

"And so these lads,' most of them dressed in their service uniform, landed one day in Pittsburgh, the capital of the mining districts, and the miners were there to see them. In a perfectly orderly array they came. They came with certain things to say to these lads, things that are in their literature, things that have been said to strikebreakers before, and then these lads unloaded, keen, kindly, clean faced young chaps, dressed in their uniforms. They were so obviously what they were, as though there was no disturbance. I remember seeing a lad in whom I had an interest marching along beside his comrade and a miner came up to him and said, 'Say, bo, you ain't goin' to the mines tonight. Why, you couldn't do anything out there. The mines have been shut down three weeks, the pits are full of water, the machinery is out of repair. Why, we couldn't mine coal this kind of weather,' and it was bad weather, the thermometer was below zero, and the Kansas zephyr was functioning.

"And the boy said, 'Yes, we are going out tonight; we are going begin to mine tomorrow. There is need of coal, the people are freezing.' This miner said, 'You cannot do it; you cannot turn a wheel,' and this lad, without looking at the miner as he trudged along, just spoke to him out of the corner of his mouth, saying, 'Did you ever see any trenches in France?'

"So these lads went to the mine. The first day they produced a car of coal. It was not very good coal, it most nearly resembled slack than coal. These boys were inexperienced in the use of dynamite, they used too much. But we sold it for coal; it helped. In ten days we had mined enough coal to relieve the emergency in two hundred Kansas communities.

DOING MORE THAN MINING

"And as these great American lads mined this coal they realised finally that they were doing something more fundamental than producing fuel for a civil population, they were proving to themselves and to the State that government does have the right to protect the public.

"Ah, my friends, if the strike were as gentle a thing as our distinguished President has told us tonight, I do not think we would ever have passed the Kansas law. If the strike merely related to the privilege of men to quit work, we would not today be subjected to the nervousness that characterises the whole United States over the subject.

"We have not forbidden to any man the right to quit work. We have not taken away from any man his divine right to quit work. We merely have taken away from Mr. Gompers his divine right to order a man to quit work. [Applause, cheers and boos.] I know rather well how you feel, and now let us just take that as an expression from both sides as your attitude upon this, and give me the liberty to go on." [Laughter and applause.]

Illusions Of The Senses

Garrett P. Serviss Shows How Sight Especially Often Deceives

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

(Eminent Writer on Subjects of Scientific Interest)

"I would like to know why, if the eye produces virtual images upon the mind the same way as a photographic camera produces images on a plate, we do not see things upside down, since the images are inverted on the plate. —R. A. J. S.

When we begin to explain the paradox to which you refer we get a curious glimpse at the world of complex illusions in which our physical life is involved. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that nothing is what it seems, and that all of our senses deceive us continually, but, fortunately, always in the same manner, so that, by uniformly treating them as mendacious, and accepting their assurances in a contrary sense, we can manage usually to force their contradictory and fragmentary reports into some sort of accord and consistence. And, when we consider that all of our impressions and beliefs about the real world and universe depend absolutely upon what we can gather from the imperfect and deceptive sources of information, we ought at least be willing to admit that there may be, and probably is, some intelligence that knows more than we do—even infinitely more.

It is true that, as you suggest, the images formed on the retina of the eye resemble those formed on the photographic plate of a camera, and they are formed in the same way, viz., by a lens, which reverses them. Yet, although it is only by means of these images that we have visual knowledge of things outside ourselves, we do not see such things "upside down," as the eye lens pictures them, but "right side up."

WHICH IS RIGHT SIDE UP?

Now, exactly what is a right side up? It is a position of things with reference to the direction of the force of gravity, which position is brought to our attention by the sense of touch, or the sense involved in muscular action. Through this sense we have learned that the tops of trees and houses, and our own heads when we assume the "erect" position, etc., are away from the center of gravity. We have here two senses giving us contradictory information, or what would be contradictory if we did not unconsciously reverse the information which one of them furnishes so as to make it agree with the other. The image formed in the eye would, if the mind accepted its plan statement, show things exactly reversed in position, as compared with their position reported by the tactile (touch) sense. But the mind has learned to trust the tactile sense, and so forces the other into accord by reading its report in a contrary sense. Let me quote Prof. Huxley's statement of this explanation:

"It is difficult to understand why, while all the pictures of external objects are certainly inverted on the retina, we nevertheless see them upright, until one reflects that the retina, in itself, has no means of indicating to the mind which of its parts lies at the top and which at the bottom, and that the mind learns to call an impression on the retina high or low, right or left, simply on account of the association of such an impression with certain coincident tactile impressions. When one part of the retina is affected the object is found to be near the right hand; when another, the left; when another, the hand has to be raised to reach the object; when yet another, it has to be depressed. Thus the several impressions on the retina are called right, left, upper, lower, quite irrespectively of their real positions, of which the mind has, and can have, no cognisance."

SENSE OF TOUCH TRUSTED

It is an interesting reflection that the sense of touch appears to be the fundamental one, the one which we instinctively trust, and by reference to which we test the reports of all the others. The farther we get away from actual touch with things the less certain our knowledge about them becomes. Distant objects make their impressions upon us by exciting special forms of the sense of touch. For instance, a star touches the nerve of vision with a ray of light trillions of miles in length. A cannon fired on the other side of a bay touches the auditory nerve with sound waves, etc. When we feel that our eyes have deceived us—by showing us a ghost, for example—we try to test their report by the most trustworthy sense of touch, and because a ghost is said to be insensible to touch we doubt whether it has any existence.

In the matter of apparitions this singular fact may be considered. The retina possesses what has been called its "proper light," i.e., its "own" light. Anyone may test the existence of this retinal light by closing the eyes in a dark room. The luminosity perceived in such circumstances is variable. It is possible that, according as it happened to affect different parts of the retina, this light might suggest to an uncritical mind the presence of a "ghost."

New Names For Old

If, as Shakespeare says, all the world's a stage, and all the men and women in it players, then everybody is entitled to a stage name. Choose your own to fit the role you have assigned yourself, and you are only exercising your professional privilege. For the present, the custom—outside the domains of the theater and literature—is more general among women than men. But the fashion once diffused, there is no telling where it will end.

Says a writer in The Daily Mail of London: "Time was when we were content to abide slavishly by the names that 'N or M' had seen fit to bestow upon us at our christening, ere personality had imprinted itself on character and features, but today there are signs of revolt against a handicap such as is implied by an unsuitable Christian name.

"Modern men and women realise what a depth of psychological suggestion abides within a name, and what a dangerous thing it is to go through life attached to one that is antipathetic to one's nature.

"So they are busy rechristening themselves according to their own views or those of their friends, and are deriving quite a lot of fun and satisfaction from it.

"Polly is becoming Patricia, and endeavoring to live up to it. Daisy is calling herself Diana, and hoping that she looks like it. Human nature possesses a curious aptitude for approximating to the view formed of and for it, so the rechristening craze achieves a wonderful mental metamorphosis in quite a number of instances.

"The rose by any other name might smell as sweet, yet our feelings in regard to it might modify, were it known as stitchwort or mangelwurzel. Similarly it would be risky to be known as Martha when we long to be Penelope, and silly to suffer as Susan when we feel like Sophonisba. The world seems a different place when we feel ourselves rightly named for it.

"There have been fashions in names that absolutely date their owners. Dorothy and Phyllis proclaim their age to the world at large just as do the unfortunate creatures named by misguided parents after battles, jubilees and Russian dancers. For such the business of rechristening becomes sooner or later a positive duty.

"The rechristening habit once acquired, there is no reason why it should not be repeated at intervals, as we age and develop. Just now the fashion is for the Slavonic. There are Ivans who, in long clothes, were pure George and Sonias, who in their cradle were simply Ada. Not long ago favor was with the French, and Yvonnes and Margots were everywhere.

"After all, why not seek the appropriate? It may annoy one's relatives, who are apt to regard the rechristening craze as an affection amounting almost to deceit —but everybody's doing it."

CHIHLI FACTION IN PROPAGANDA AGAINST ANFUS

Inflammatory Handbills Are Being Circulated At Hankow

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, June 30.—It seems quite probable that the Chihli faction of the northern militarists is about to conduct an extensive propaganda program against the Anfuities, among the northern soldiers under the Anfu leaders. Hand-bills have appeared in Hankow bearing inflamatory messages and purporting to emanate from the Chihli military body.

The gist of the leaflets is an earnest appeal of the Chihli soldiers to soldiers under the Anfu leaders to stop fooling themselves into thinking that they are rendering service to China by being obadient to the Anfu leaders; and to stop carrying on the distressing internal strife in the interests of their selfish commanders.

This is what is said in part:

"The Anfuities are now dominating China in a sinister and high-handed way, unparalleled in history. Their dictator, Hsu Shucheng, (or Little Hsu) is a man who has done great harm to China. He secretly sold away the birthrights of the Chinese and pledged away the mining, railway and other properties in China to a certain country, in order to enrich himself and enhance his personal power.

"The withdrawal of Chihli troops from Hunan has been for no purpose other than to sweep away the malicious Anfu gang and to drive Little Hsu from power. We are all soldiers in the service of the country, and not of the individual military leaders.

"It is, therefore, our prime duty to keep peace for the people and to see to it that the men at the helm are not undesirables. Therefore let us abandon the internal war and look forward to the day when the Anfuities are driven from their offices and the Anfu Club concludes its last day."

It is understood that hundreds of copies of the above handbills have been prepared in Hankow and will be sent out to Hunan and other provinces for distribution among soldiers.

CHANG TROOPS BEING DISARMED

General Wang Takes Steps To Disperse Swarm Of Defeated Men

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, June 30.—Following the evacuation of Yochow by General Chang Ching-yao, General Wang Chan-yuan of Wuchang has taken unusual care to see that the broken fragments of General Chang's troops are properly handled as they come down river in junks. He has ordered his troops to stations by the river-side, with orders to disarm the retreating soldiers before letting them pass to Wuchang or Hankow.

In several instances the soldiers coming from Yochow have refused to give up their arms, thinking they are the only things that give them power. In these instances General Wang's troops have fired on them, killing several junk-loads.

Besides forcing the soldiers to be disarmed, General Wang has also issued a set of strict rules governing the conduct of the retreating soldiers.

For instance, no soldiers are allowed to loaf about in any place in Hupeh; they have to stay within their own quarters.

General Wang is also arranging to send home the disarmed soldiers. Recently he personally harangued a group of retreating soldiers, admonishing them to return to their homes. The soldiers some 800 were all moved back to their homes in the north.

On the fall of Yochow into the hands of the Southerners, the people in this center are panic-stricken. Inhabitants near the railway terminus of the Wuchang-Changsha Railway are especially alarmed and most of them have removed their families to Hankow and other places.

INSANE THRONGH LOVE

Breuning Fires Revolver, But Cannot Awaken Stage Star's Affection

Paris, May 25.—Leon Breuning, aged 45, loved Mlle. Valpreux, the beautiful star of the Comedie Francaise.

Morning and evening he wrote her impassioned epistles.

She took no notice and never replied.

Last night he wandered about for hours up and down the embankment of the Seine. At 3 o'clock this morning what was left of his mind was made up.

He rang the bell at the house where his beloved lived and was admitted to the courtyard. With a revolver he had bought he fired six shots into the window of her apartment. Mademoiselle did not waken.

Leon has been taken to a madhouse, certified insane through love.
